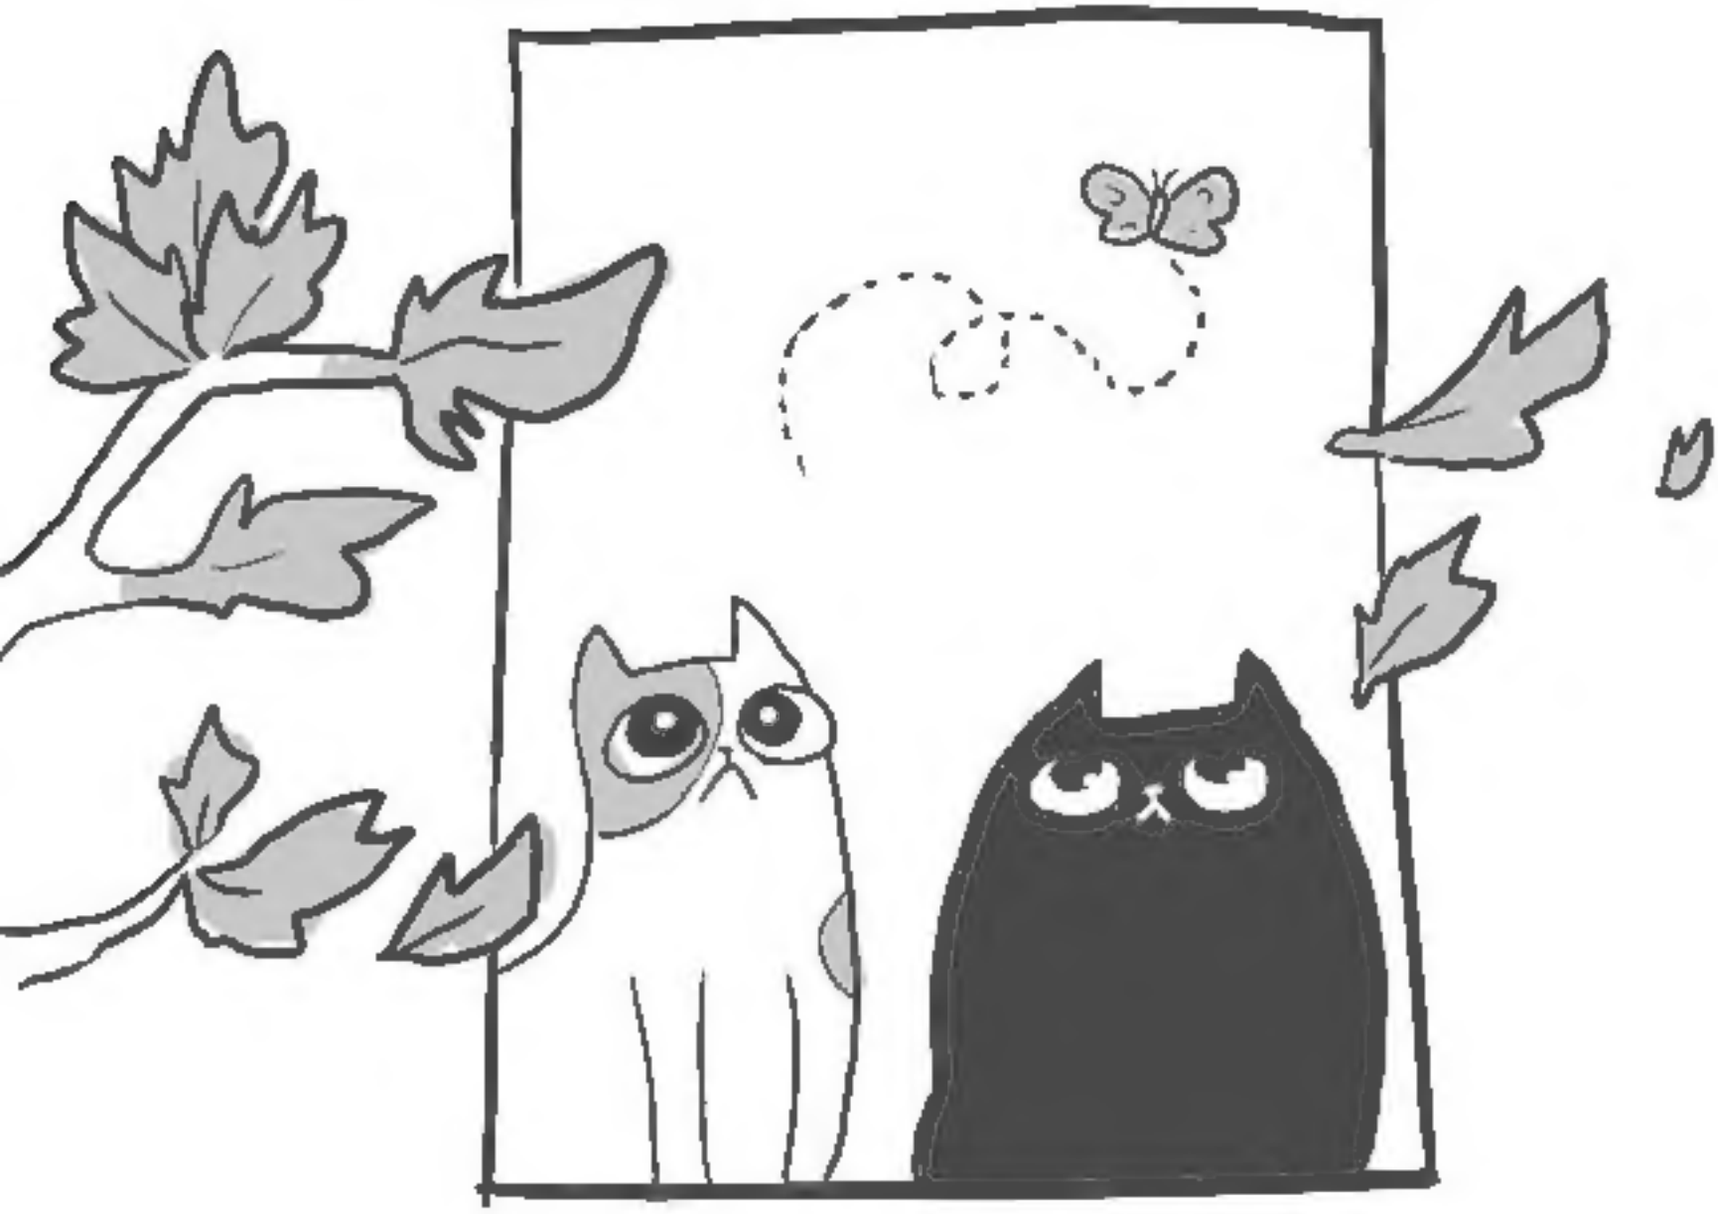
Sick Day Break

Guuuuuuuuuh!

Hey all. It's me, the creator. I've been feeling pretty dang gross these past few days.
Zatanna
Artemis

I'm afraid I couldn't get the episode for this week done on time due to my horrible organic body. I made okay progress on it though. We should be back on track next week, no problem.

What's really cool is that the next episode is the 100th. That's crazy. I think that if you break it down into comic book format, it's over 350 pages long.



In addition to the episode itself, I've gathered some amazing, amazing guest art from some wonderful artists. I'm so excited to show it to you.

But because I have to push it back a week anyway, I've decided to add another fun little thing to next week's episode: Q&A!

So please, ask me or ask a Sword Interval cast member some questions, and we'll answer some of them at the end of Episode 100.

We'll what?
Hm. No spoilers.

Thank you
for reading, everyone.
See you next week.